Mr. Caffery Explains the Position a Democrats With Reference to the Tariff-Bank-Tax Repeal.

WASHINGTON, June 2.-SENATE .e or condemnation of land in the nity of the Gettysburg battle-field was up on motion of Mr. Hill and passplayed no part in the last campaign; the parties were aligned upon the one prominent dominant issue, which had divided the great parties for years, and they paid no attention to the side issues that were forced into platforms. The Democrats in Alabama had made a platform so broad and catholic that every Democrats. ed. The resolution offered yesterday Mr. Peffer for taking possession of and aid before the Senate, and Mr. Hill spoke Mr. Hall was followed by Mr. War-ner (Democrat), of New York, a mem-ber of the committee, who said he was in favor of removing the Federal prohibition against State-bank currency. He spoke at some length, and in conclusion said the people of the North and East, especially of New York, were friends of the South and West, and in this matter desired to therity either. There was nothing in the original resolution that permitted any enator to suggest that the proceedings

M. the tariff bill was laid before the Senste, but Mr. Hill said he would continue his remarks, availing himself of the latitude of debate authorized in the Senate. He went on to say the investigation should be open to the public and the press, and that this would present any unsudden that the Senate desired. State rights, and ought to be repeated.

At the conclusion of Mr. Lester's remarks Mr. Meyer (Democrat), of Louisiana, was recognized, and addressed the committee in favor of the repeal of the vent any suspicion that the Senate desired to have those proceedings conducted in

If the public was to have any inkling of what was taking place, it should have the whole of it. The newspaper men, he said, were watching the doors of the committee-room to know who went in and who came out and when witnesses refused to tell them to what they had testified the newspaper men made surmises.

they had testified the newspaper men made surmises.

Mr. Gray, chairman of the committee, replied to Mr. Hill, saying the personal inclination of the committee and their personal comfort would have suggested the throwing open of the doors of the committee-room while conducting the investigation, but that after deliberation and discussion, and a careful consideration of the nature of the duty imposed upon them, they had come to the conclusion that, for the present at any rate, the end in view could be better promoted by proceeding as they had done.

Mr. Hill having asserted that the Senate had a perfect right to direct the method of the committee's proceedings, Mr. Blackburn remarked that in a congressional experience of twenty years this was the first time, with one exception, that anybody had uncertaken to control the action of a committee, and to incommittee, and to incommittee, and to incommittee, and to incommit the action of a committee, and to incommit the committee of the committee of the committee.

NEWSPAPER APPLAUSE.

Mr. Gray referred to Mr. Hill's etatement the other day, that the committee had better stop investigating the rawspaper men and investigate the truth of the charges. He did not think the Senator from New York, when he released himself from the captivating induced in newspaper applause, would approve that statement.

"We all," said Mr. Gray, "lit's the applause of the press. But there is something better than the applause of the press, and that is the consciousness of duty performed. Whether we receive that applause or not, we will certainly NEWSPAPER APPLAUSE.

plause or not, we will certain r ourselves the respect which w have for ourselves the respect which we cannot do without—and that is our self-respect. With this explanation I will leave the matter to the Senate.

Mr. Lodge, a member of the select committee, defended its action. He declared that it was the intention of the committee to call before it everybody who could be supposed to be able to throw any light upon the subject.

The discussion was continued by Mr. Hill, who said Messrs. Blackburn and

claimed for newspaper men exemption from the rules applying to other witconsect to have a vote taken on the reso-tution without further discussion. Ob-jection was made by Mr. Dolph, who argued that the proper course was to have them brought before the bar of the Senate and punished for contempt. At the close of Mr. Dolph's remarks, Mr. Bortion referred to his suggestion, but bijection was made. The resolution went byer without action, and the considera-tion of the sugar schedule of the tariff bill was proceeded with.

Mr. Aldrich said it was an open secret that the votes of the two senators from Louisiana and the Democratic senator from New York were necessary for the passage of the bill, and that these votes rould be secured only by the proposition

Mr. Caffery rejoined that the greatest injury that had ever befallen the Demo-cratic sugar interest had been the im-position of a bounty on sugar. Mr. Caf-fery went on to say that he was a Demoerat, and desired to see the principles of that party succeed. In common with all Democratic senators he knew that a fleath-blow, or a very serious blow, would be struck at that party if it falled to pass a revenue bill. He had a profound senti-ment of gratitude to that party, which had been a rock of refuge to the South. had been a rock of refuge to the South, and he was profoundly convinced of the correctness of the theory of government held by that party, and that the protection theory of the Republican party was assentially wrons. A bounty, he said, was utterly repugnant to his idea of government. It gave a gratuity to an individual or to a lot of individuals to follow a certain calling. No Democrat. follow a certain calling. No Democrat could endorse that principle. The people of Louisiana did not want it; and it had involved the disruption of the sugar in-fusiry. But the Senator from Rhode Island appeared to marvel that a Demo-gratic senator did not surrender his faith and accept a gift which had turned to on the lips of the sugar-planters

Mr. Aldrich argued for the retention of the sugar bounty, for one reason—that the bounty method would cost the country of the sugar bounty, for one reason—that the bounty method would cost the country paily $10,00,000 to $12,000,000 annually, while the duties under the pending bill would cost the people from $50,000,000 to $75,800,000 yearly.

Mr. Blanchard expressed views similar to those of his colleague.

Finally, Mr. Aldrich suggested to Mr. Harris that it was about time for adjournment, and Mr. Harris said in response: "I hope the Senator from Rhode Island will think the matter over between now and Monday, so that we may arrive at some agreement as to the time when we may come to a final settlement of this bill. I shall not insist on the Senate's remaining later to-night. But we must make progress—which we have not done for several days. And I hope that by Monday morning, or some time on Monday, we may arrive at some conclusion satisfactory to both sides as to when we will come to a final disposition of this bill."

"I am aware," Mr. Aldrich said, "of the said, several days." Mr. Aldrich said, "of the said, said.

bill."

'I am aware," Mr. Aldrich said, "of the anxiety of the Senator from Tennesse to go ahead with this bill. But I suggest to him that so far as the proceedings of to-day are concerned, a large part of the time has been taken up profitably. I have no doubt,) by senators on the other life of the chamber."

'I have raised no question about sides," said Mr. Harris, "nor am I undertaking to criminate anybody just now; although I may hereafter find abundant cause to 30 it. I want to make an amicable arrangement with both sides of the chamber, and I hope the Senator from Rhode Island will consider the matter between now and Monday."

The House, in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to further consideration of the bill to repeal the State tax, and an unusual honor was paid a new member when Mr. Reed (Maine) asked and obtained manimous consent for Mr. Izlar to conclude his remarks in favor of repeal, segun yesterday, and which he was unible to conclude because the time allotted to him had expired.

At the conclusion of Mr. Izlar's remarks, Mr. Enloe explained the motion he made resterday to take up bills on the private talendar was not made in entagonism to the pending bill, for he was in favor of its passage, but he made it because it was a proper motion to be made on Friday, and because he had understood that the committees which had reported private bills had instructed their chairman to insist upon consideration on the day set apart under the rules. Seeing neither chairman present, he had made the motion, but not in a spirit of antagonism to the bank repeal bill.

Mr. Hail (Democrat), of Minnesota, was the next speaker on the bank-tax bill. He said that the plank in the Democratic platform calling for the repeal of the State-bank tax must have been surreptiously introduced while the convention sat in the hall, with the thunders of Heaven booming, and the rain pouring through the roof. Declarations in party platforms, he said, and especially in Democratic platforms, ought to be received with respect, and their force recognized; but as a matter of fact, party platforms are clastic affairs. He himself, he admitted, had not always given the strictest heed to them, and as to the bank-rèpeal-plank question, with others, he had flatly repudiated it on the stump. The repeal of the State-bank tax played no part in the last campaign; the parties were aligned upon the one prominent dominant issue, which had divided Speech, and Skinner Closes.

WILSON, N. C., June 2.—(Special.)—To-day has been a red-letter day for the Populists of Wilson and adjoining counties. Nearly a thousand people met here to hear the oracles of that party, President Butler, Captain W. H. Kitchin, and Colonel Harry Skinner. Butler led off and made a short speech, in which he said: "I told you so." He said that he told the people two years ago what the Democrats would do, and they have done so; he prided himself upon his excellence as a prophet.

Captain Kitchin, the recent convert, followed. He gave a rehash of his old redhot-blood-and-thunder Democratic speech that he used to make two years ago with the parts that were objectionable to his new friends left out, a sort of Hamlet with Hamlet left out, as it were. The Captain was not so bold and not so heroic as he used to be when marching under Captain was not so bold and not so heroic as he used to be when marching under the uncompromising Democratic banner. His speech bore a kind of apologetic tone. Colonel Skinner closed the day with a speech that shot over the heads of the crowd. He talked of Greece and Rome, with the pyramids of Egypt thrown in. One third of the crowd were negroes, and, of course, they appreciated his classic utterances. The crowd was restless throughout, and the speakers could not held their attention. Fully a third of the people present were straight Democrats, and Wilson county is considered the stronghold of Populism.

NO DAMAGE TO TOBACCO.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., June 2.—(Special.)—Quite a number of farmers are in town to-day from Edgecombe and Nash counties.

while the growth of the coop plants has been retarded by the present cold spell, no damage at all has resulted.

Jordan Deans, whose fall from a roof he was at work on was noted in this correspondence a few days ago, died yes-hess. Marie and Bessie Ford, of Madisonville, Va., who have been teaching at Stanhope, Nash county, spent yesterday here, en route to their home.

Mr. Dorsey Battle, an old newspaperman, and a distinguished lawyer of Tarboro', has permanently located here for the practice of his profession.

Mrs. Judge Jacob Battle is quite III.

Miss Cleora Batchelor, of Nashville, is visiting friends in town.

The "street-tax" has been made $2 per capita, instead of $1, as heretofore.

During this month and July and August decided improvements will be made on the sidewalks, waterways, &c., of the town.

where he is wanted on the charge of cutting with intent to kill James Squires, a justice of the peace at Sandy Ridge, Union county. It is alleged that Crow and three other colored men entered the house of Justice Squires on the night of May 10th, and that robbery was the object of their visit. Mr. Squires resisted the intruders, and was cut in ten places on his body and limbs. The intruders left him for dead and ransacked the house, obtaining $2,000 in bonds and $40 in money. Three of the colored men were caught and confessed having attacked Justice Squires. Crow came to Baltimore, where he was arrested by Round-Sergeant Glynn and Sergeant Swartz,

Free-Day at Natural Bridge NATURAL BRIDGE, VA., June 2.-(Special.)—To-day is the annual pic-nic day at Natural Bridge. It is known as Free-Day owing day at Natural Bridge. It is known as Free-Day, owing to the generosity of Colonel H. C. Parsons. The grounds, buildings, and bridge are to-day thrown open to the public free of charge, and fully one thousand people are on the grounds, every section of Rockbridge and adjacent counties being represented. It is a gala-day, with a bright sun overhead, the whole landscape is dotted with groups, and laughter and frivolity are heard and seen on every hand. The exercises will close with a grand ball to-night. grand ball to-night.
